

We're going to make sure that your teachers get training and support to help them to become really good subject leaders in school, so that our curriculum carries on being really exciting and fun. This will help you to enjoy your learning even more!

All your teachers and TAs will be improving their teaching by developing a piece of their own action research in the class. They will work in teacher research groups.

We're going to carry on helping your parents to support you in your learning at home so that you make even better progress in school. We'll also carry on putting on courses for your parents, which helps them with their learning.

We're going to make sure that we know exactly how well each child is doing, and what you need to do to make progress in learning.

What are we doing to improve our school this year?

We'll be helping you to become even more fluent at maths. We love using Maths No Problem, as it has helped us to improve maths teaching, and we will be training all your teachers to use it by the end of the year.

We'll be focusing on helping our pupils to become more fluent writers so that Mellers becomes known as a 'writing school'. We want our pupils to be able to write as beautifully as they can read (our pupils are some of the best in Nottingham).

We're finding more ways for our governors to become expert at checking that things are going well in school, so that our school becomes even better than it already is!

We're going to make sure that the move into the new school building is really successful. We'll also be working hard to make sure that we keep 'the Mellers way' as our school grows bigger.

We'll be making sure that the Achievement for All project helps us to work even more closely with your parents so you make even more progress and your parents will become even more involved in school life.

We'll be carrying on the great work we've been doing to ensure that pupil attendance keeps on improving, and this year we're aiming for 97%.
