

NEWSLETTER 9

Summer Term '19

Thursday 27th June 2019

Reading for Pleasure

Congratulations to the 70 children who have read at home at least three times a week since the beginning of the school year. They have received their book prize from the special cabinets and will get an extra playtime before the end of term. Well done for their incredible effort and commitment to reading for fun.

Reading for pleasure has proved to help children to have better emotional health and to achieve well at school.

Please come and see Mrs Gillen or Mrs Newbold for any help to encourage your children to read for pleasure at home.

Road Safety

Following on from the great work, including a petition and survey our parents have done, led by Ms Wawrzyniak, Nottingham City Council's road safety team have acknowledged our concerns. Subject to funding they are going to look at ways of making the road safer for everyone. Look out for further updates about this hopefully soon.

Punctuality, Please!

There have been up to 30 children late to school each day this last week. There are no excuses; please organise school things the night before and set your alarms to wake you up early, and leave home in time to get here for 8.40 prompt!

Have a lovely weekend!

Amanda Dawson, Headteacher

Word and Grammar of the Week

We thought we would share our word and grammar of the week with you, so that you can further help your children with their English skills:

I accepted the invitation to the party. ✓ not

I excepted the invitation to the party. ×

Word of the Week

ruminant

Key Stage Two Production

Thank you to the children who took part in yesterday's key stage two production, and to the staff who wrote it, put it together and organised it all.

We were pleased to see so many parents here supporting their children. The door entry fee raised £80.00, which will go towards our support of the Nottingham Music Hub, with whom we have a long-standing partnership with In Harmony.

Thank you once again for your support.

School Disco!

The next disco night will be after school on Thursday 18th July, from 3.30-5pm for children in years 1-6. As usual, tickets will cost £3.00 each and will be on sale from Monday 8th July at the school office. The ticket price will include a goodie bag with a drink, crisps and a treat too...what a great way to end the school year!

May Day Bank Holiday 2020

Did you know that next year, 2020, the May Day bank holiday is on Friday 8th May?

As you know it's usually on Monday; so please put the Friday date in your calendar or diary, so you don't go booking the wrong weekend away!!