

There are still some families that don't get their children to school every day, and we will be working hard with everyone to make sure that attendance at school improves. If children aren't at school, they're missing lessons and not learning.

All the teaching staff at Mellers will be involved in action research, using Rosenshine's Principles in Action to make sure that all our lessons are as great as possible!

Everyone is a leader at Mellers, and we want staff, pupils and parents to feel like leaders. We want you all to feel confident to suggest changes, and to be 'at your best' and 'up to something' for Mellers and beyond!

We want to make sure that everyone is clever or skilled at something, and that you all know what you're really good at.

What are we doing to improve our school this year?

Our excellent school governors will continue to make sure that everyone is striving to be 'the best that they can be' at Mellers through regular visits and checks. They'll meet regularly through the year to keep an eye on things at Mellers and support us all.

We want to make sure that we are all resilient and happy with a positive self-image; we also want to make sure that everyone at Mellers (staff, pupils and parents) understands what bullying is, and knows how to say 'no' to bullying so that our school and world are bully-free zones and safe for everyone.

We're working on pupils' oracy skills: making sure that all our children, including those who are still learning English, become confident speakers and readers as this will help with all areas of their learning.

We're reviewing our curriculum at Mellers, making sure that it's exciting, inspiring and helps children to build on their knowledge from year to year. We want our pupils to have excellent knowledge in all subjects so that they are well-equipped to get places at the best colleges and universities, and the best jobs available.

We want to make sure that all our children and families are safe, and that our safeguarding work is rigorous. Your happiness and safety are our main priorities.

It's really important that we carry on our work to make sure that everyone at Mellers loves reading, as this is the key to all knowledge. We'll be starting up new projects to spread our love of reading even further!
